Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file is deemed to be objectionable because it promotes and supports the use of violence to compel any person to participate in, or submit to, sexual conduct.

The clip presents brutal sexual violence for the sexual arousal of viewers. Viewers, presumed to be men, are invited to identify with male dominance and power, and enjoy the woman's helplessness as she is forced to submit to rape. Such material encourages attitudes that contribute to sexual violence.

The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention and is a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression. The classification reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to protect women from sexual violence.
